

Anti-Slavery + Human Trafficking Statement

This statement is made pursuant to Section 54 of the UK Modern Slavery Act 2015, and the EU Directive 2011/36 [Anti-Human Trafficking] outlines the steps John Paul Construction has taken during 2025 to prevent modern slavery and human trafficking in our business and supply chains. This policy will be reviewed and updated annually.

Management Systems and Compliance

Supply Chain partners are expected to have policies and procedures consistent with the requirements of this Supply Chain Code of Conduct, relevant EU/National Laws, the 'UN Guiding

Our Commitment

At John Paul Construction, we firmly believe that success is not solely measured by financial outcomes but also by the ethical conduct of our business. Our company is founded on strong values and ethical principles, and as such, we adopt a zero-tolerance approach towards modern slavery, encompassing practices such as slavery, servitude, forced or compulsory labour, and human trafficking.

To uphold our commitment to transparency, compliance and continual improvement, we have established procedures that mandate our supply chain partners to adhere to this policy. All potential partners are required to familiarise themselves with this policy as part of our onboarding process before engaging in any business activities with us.

Our Business

We operate in the construction sector, delivering Data Centres, Pharma/Life Sciences, Industrial, Healthcare, Commercial & Retail, Fitout, Residential & Student Accommodation, Tourism & Leisure, Public, Transport, Energy/Renewables, and Civil Infrastructure. Our operations span Ireland, UK and Europe, and we work with a wide network of suppliers, subcontractors, and partners.

Our Policies

We have implemented a range of policies and procedures to support our commitment to ethical business practices, including:

- » Employee Code of Conduct & Business Ethics– outlining expected standards of behaviour for all employees and partners.
- » Supply Chain Code of Conduct– setting out our expectations for ethical conduct, labour standards, and human rights across our supply chain. It includes a confidential reporting channel for stakeholder to report concerns.
- » Employee Whistleblowing Policy – providing a confidential channel for reporting concerns, including suspected modern slavery.
- » Anti-slavery & Human Trafficking Policy – setting out our commitment to zero tolerance for modern slavery in all its forms (forced labour, human trafficking).

Anti-Slavery + Human Trafficking Statement

- » Sustainable Procurement Policy – setting out our commitment to reducing environmental and social impacts the products and services we procure, including suspected modern slavery.
- » Equality, Diversity & Inclusion Policy – outlining how we strive to create and maintain a culture where everyone feels included, valued and all human rights are respected.
- » Equality and Human Rights Policy – outlines how we are committed to providing Equal opportunities and the promotion of Human Rights.

Due Diligence and Risk Management

We assess the risk of modern slavery in our operations and supply chains through:

- » Supply chain partner pre-qualification and onboarding processes
- » Contractual requirements for supply chain partner compliance with modern slavery laws
- » Ongoing supply chain partner assessments and audits where appropriate

Training and Awareness

We provide training to relevant staff to raise awareness of modern slavery risks and how to identify and report concerns. We communicate our expectations to supply chain partners to promote shared responsibility. We run awareness campaigns on all our sites and provide toolbox talks for our supply chain workforce to understand their rights. As partners of the Supply Chain Sustainability School, we actively encourage our employees and our supply chain partners to undertake e-learning on Modern Slavery and other ESG topics.

Monitoring and Continuous Improvement

We are committed to continuously monitoring, maintaining, and enhancing our policies and procedures to ensure ongoing compliance with the Modern Slavery Act 2015 and the EU Directive 2011/36 [Anti-Human Trafficking] by:

- » Regular policy reviews
- » Strengthening supplier engagement
- » Enhancing transparency and reporting mechanisms

Approval

This statement has been approved by the Board of Directors of John Paul Construction and serves as a foundational commitment to combat modern slavery within our operations and supply chains, ensuring ethical conduct and upholding human rights across all aspects of our business.
